BIO

Mariia Raskin (b. 1979, Kazakhstan) is an impressionist painter based in Northern Cyprus. She holds a degree with honors in Applied Arts from Kosygin State University in Moscow and has a background in fashion illustration, graphic design, and book illustration. After completing formal icon painting training in 2014, she turned to contemporary painting in 2019, inspired by the Mediterranean landscape. She has held solo exhibitions in Cyprus include one opened by the Prime Minister, and her artworks are part of the Cyprus Museum of Modern Art's permanent collection. She is a member of the International Association of Art (IAA) and Eurasian Art Union (EAU). Mariia has received international art awards and participated in exhibitions and art fairs in the United States, Spain, Switzerland, the Netherlands, and Cyprus. Her interviews and features have been published on several prominent platforms for artists and creatives.

Artist Statement

I create energetically rich, impressionistic semi-abstract landscapes and seascapes with a touch of expressionism and symbolism. My paintings combine the calm tranquility of contemplating nature with the powerful components embedded in natural processes.

I pay special attention to the person in the painting and how he or she feels and understands nature, its phenomena, and its strong processes. My artworks tell about the unbreakable connection of a small but creative and intellectual individual with the vast universe created for his life and contemplation.

My signature technique is based on gestural and bold palette knife strokes that vividly convey the emotion and nerve of the painting through a play of color tones.

My paintings are «windows» that transport the viewer to their place of power and relaxation.
